c. Zelia Faria-Costa, Division Director, Family & Children’s Cross-Systems Initiatives
• Zelia reported on increased funding received through various grants allowing for hiring of additional staff to oversee the development and implementation of new programs. Zelia indicated there are currently several open clinical positions to be filled. She also shared there are multiple recruitments within various departments/units including Probation and School Linked Services. One of these positions will oversee three new programs in partnership with Juvenile Probation. Zelia briefly summarized the three programs as follows:
  • Multi-Systemic Therapy will focus on youth that are arrested for serious offenses and will involve intensive therapy done in conjunction with family.
  • Probation Continuum of Services to Reentry (Pro-CSR) will focus on youth who have had a stay at the Ranch, Juvenile Hall or placement at a Short-Term Residential Therapeutic Program. Families will be included and take part in helping youth readjust to the community.
  • Treatment-Focused Services (TFS) will focus on Probation, prevention and early intervention programs for youth who committed a low offense. Treatments provided are generally short-term and low dosage support.
  • Another Program Manager will oversee the behavioral health component of the Dually Involved (DIY) program in collaboration with teams from Probation, and Social Services Child Welfare. Behavioral Health Services Department is staffed with youth advocates for this program and a Child and Family Team facilitator.
